This 3 story, 3 bay wide brick town house was originally the center member of a three house row built in the early 1860's (see 920-22 North Charles). Now fitted with a large first floor commercial front, the elegant cornice reveals most obviously the shared aspects of the row. Unfortunately, 926 North Charles no longer stands.

The condition of the first floor facade reveals that the house rested on a rusticated marble base. The impressive shop front and interior date from the 1920's, during an era when Charles Street got a major face-lifting. The shop front consists of a large plate glass window with recessed entrance, surrounded by a simple stone frame with a vaguely Doric entablature. The second and third floor windows have simple, flat stone sills and lintels, with thin bands of molding above each lintel which would appear to be Greek in derivation. The most notable feature of the house, the cornice, has been described in 920-22 North Charles.
